Updated November 5, 2026

Mueller Water Products, Inc. ("Mueller") is providing notice of a recent data security incident which may have affected the confidentiality of certain individuals' information.

What Happened? Mueller identified unauthorized access to a portion of our IT network. We immediately took steps to secure our systems and began an investigation with the assistance of internal and external cybersecurity professionals. Our investigation determined that unauthorized access took place from September 17 through September 20, 2026 and that certain files were copied from the system by an unauthorized actor during that time. We undertook a review of the relevant files to confirm what information was present and to whom it related.

What Information Was Involved? We have determined that the information in the relevant files includes current and former employees' names and Social Security numbers. At this time, Mueller is not aware of any actual or attempted identity theft or fraud associated with this incident. Nevertheless, we are providing this notice so individuals may take steps to protect their information, should they feel it appropriate to do so.

What We Are Doing. We have taken steps to contain and investigate the incident with no impact to our operations. We are also reviewing and strengthening our existing safeguards to further enhance the security of our systems. We have notified federal law enforcement of this incident, as well as appropriate regulators.

STEPS YOU CAN TAKE TO HELP PROTECT PERSONAL INFORMATION

Monitor Your Accounts
Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order a free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. Consumers may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of their credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended "fraud alert" on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer's credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer's credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer's identity before extending new credit. If consumers are the victim of identity theft, they are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should consumers wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a "credit freeze" on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer's express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in a consumer's name without consent. However, consumers should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in their credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application they make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, consumers cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on their credit report. To request a credit freeze, individuals may need to provide some or all of the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver's license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if they are a victim of identity theft.

Should consumers wish to place a credit freeze or fraud alert, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
